IDEAL EROILING.

Broiling can be done in the oven of the Charter Oak Range or Stove with the Wire Gauze Oven Door, more perfectly than over the live coals.

Lay the steak, chops, ham or fish on a wire broiler or meat rack, placing it in an ordinary bake pan to catch the drippings.

Allow it to remain in the oven with the door closed 15 or 20 minutes. No turning is required. At the end of this time it will be found nicely cooked ready to serve.

This is the ideal way to broiled over the coals.

There is no taint of coal-gas or smoke, and the meats are more tender and better in flavor than those broiled over the coals.

The convenience or broiling in the oven will be appreciated by every house-keeper, and adds another to the many reasons why and allow it was sustained. How she could remember five faces seen at dark for could remember five faces seen at dark for

The three or four fleshy quill pushers at the table, each taking this to himself, blushed confusedly.

Mr. Shafer held up the illustrated paper with the picture of the "boodlers."

MERCHANTS' PLAN.

A Ticket Proposed by the Neminating Committee and Approved by the Main Caucus

—The Vote on the Candidates—Only One of the Merchants' Nominees Gets a Place —To-Morrow's Primaries—Political Notes.

Last evening dozens of Democratic politicians were to be met on the streets down town. On inquiry the curious learned that they had come from no place in particular and were going nowhere. The politician does not sorruple to lie in the service of his party at any time, but he is particularly able when questioned concerning a caucus. In this appartently aimless way they sauntered about like the Chinese population returning in single file haif a block apart from the Y. M. C. A. Sunday-school on a stilly Sabbath. The lights of the party were all down town. This morning there was a report on the streets that a very important Democratic caucus, in which the most prominent Democratic from all parts of the city participated, had been held and that the slate had been fixed up for the Council. Dozens of the managers were seen, but could give no information concerning the resource.

A Ticket Proposed by the Main Caucus first himself. Mr. Boyce will the sevent and Approved by the Main Caucus which all Democrats of the ward are invited, is to decide on the advisability of placing a delegation in the field at the primaries and to-night's meeting vill set to be the primaries. The members were the Glover element in the ward, are much dissatives at the primaries and to-night's meeting vill settle as to whether they will go before the primaries. There are, or were at noon, three pronounced Democratic caucidates for the House of Delegates, John R. Abern, a well known builder, Joseph A. Robertson, the lawyer, and P. H. O'Nelli, a horseshoer, and pow a member of the lower House. The friends of each claim that he alone can beat car-Postmaster Samuel Hays, who is to be the Republican and the promocratic caucus, in which the most prominent Democratic from all parts of the city participated cil. Dozens of the managers were seen, but could give no information concerning the reported meeting. Many had not heard the More Than Forty-Five Years Spent in the rumor or any mention of the slate. There was such a meeting, however, and it accounts for the many politicians met on the streets down town yesterday. Last Friday word was quietly sent about to the ward bosses that a senting the views of the administration, he assisted the Lindell Hotel meetings for the purpose of putting a list of prominent names before the Democratic convention. Some of the bosses who are under contract with the elevated railroads and other corporations applying for favorable legislation set quietly to work to make their own nominations, notwithstanding the fact legislation set quietly to work to make their own nominations, notwithstanding the fact that their action might imperil the success of the administration by a general Republican rictory. The result is that the Merchants Exchange movement will be killed though the nomination of Mr. Sloan, who stands well with the mercantile cummunity, is regarded as a conciliatory move. The makers do not anticipate that this slate will be broken in the convention, as many of the delegations to be voted for tomorrow are pledged to vote for it. Trouble is, however, anticipated in the Fourth and Eighth Wards, where the slate delegations will be bitterly opposed, as they are also pledged to Jimmy Moore for the Central Committee.

The Republicans have not put up a slate yet, but have the following names from which the Council ticket may be selected: N. O. Nelson, Chas. G. Stifel, Dan Catlin, Chas Schoenbeck, John Kraus, Caspar Stolle, I. M. Mason, V. B. S. Reber, John Vogel, R. J. Delano, Henry Zeigenheim, J. K. Cummings, E. S. Rowse, D. Crawford, G. W. Parker, and D. Mr. John Vogel, who represents the Third Ward in the House of Delegates, is a candidate for the Council.

The Nineteenth Ward delegates to the Democratic convention will be selected to-night at a meeting at 3214 Hickory street.

Jimmy Moore's location of the Fourth and Eighth Ward polls at Cass avenue is the realization of the worst fears of the opposition. Committeeman McNamara of the Seven-teenth Ward has agreed to give Mr. James P. Egan representation at the polling-place to-morrow, and Mr. Egan has accordingly de-cided to make the race to-morrow.

The candidates, who have been unable to secure the friendship of the Central Committeemen, that are made autocrats in their wards have in several instances resolved to run independently to escape slaughter to-morrow.

The Democratic voters of the Twenty-eighth Ward complain that while the majority of the voters are in Precinct 243, Central Committeeman Quinan acting in the interest of Mr. E. F. Stone, the present delegate, has placed the voting places in Precinct 241 because Mr. Ed Cronin, Stone's opponent, is the more popular candidate in the first named precinct. Mr. Robert L. McLaren, the well-known lawyer, is a candidate for the House of Delegates in the Twentieth Ward. His opponent is John Mohan, a protege of Dick Lancaster, whose main support is the street car influence, which has so often freed brought to bear in political affairs. Mr. McLaren is very well known in the ward and his friends believe he will have a walk-over. William Boyce of the Fourth Ward has rithdrawn allegiance from Jimmy Moore, the central Committeeman of the ward, owing to

A Breckenridge (Col.) paper states that some difficulty has existed in conflicting claims between the Boss and Key West on Farncomb hill. Last Friday night a party of men from Breckenridge under the lead of Mr. Hausmann, the resident representative of the St. Louis owners, surreptitiously entered the mine and proceeded to tear down the barriers erected by the Key West people and erect others to keep the Key West eclalmants out. While they were at this work the latter put in an appearance and although but three as opposed to fifteen their protest was so potent that Mr. Hausman agreed to stand by an agreement that he had previously made to submit to a decision arrived at by the surveyors to whom the matter in dispute was to be left. Later in the night when the miners interested in the miners of the hill learned of the facts they turned out and insisted that the truce entered into by the Key West people should be ended at once but the owners of the Key West refused to aguiesce in such a course. Finally the miners decided to notify the gang that had been hired to do this work to leave the hill at once. Upon that the miners were determined, and actinal promptly served it was found that they had left.

MANIFESTO OF THE CONSTITUTIONALISTS.
VIENNA, March 21.—A manifesto by Russian Constitutionalists was published here yester-day. They repudiate any connection with the ecent attempt on the life of the Czar. The regime, especially emphasizing that of humthree chief points of the party's creed are: That a consultative chamber be summoned, the Czar retaining the right to decide with the majority or the minority, as he pleases; that the press be granted freedom of speech and that political prisoners be amnestied. THE RUSSIAN PRESS CENSURED. ST. PETERSBURG, March 21.—The Official Gazette censures the Russian press for reviving the allegation that the relations between Russia and Germany are unfriendly, despite the Government's denial. The paper adds that the revival of this statement is especially censurable just now because it is made so soon after the execution of the "bloody judgments at Rustchuk." for which many partisan journals have held Germany and her agents in Bulgaria responsible. The Gazette, in con clusion, says: "Such statements are an idle charge. Russia is perfectly satisfied in con fiding her interests to Germany's agent in Bulgaria. Newspaper statements discredit ing the measure are groundless."

"What effect will the arrest of Father Keller have?"
The Justice replied: "It is easy to see that this foily of the Tories will quicken the arrival of long, wished for home-rule. It will set affaine the enthusiasm in this country once more, and money will again be sent across to our struggling people. If money should be demanded, and men will be sent across too, if it should be necessary, and I am beginning to fear that it will be necessary."

John J. Delaney, President of the Municipal Council of the Irish National League, who believes in League methods, and has for a long time, says he is beginning to fear shaky. "I think," he said seriously, "that Ireland will have to fight for home rule, and that the sooner we make England understand that fact, the quicker we will get it."

"Will Father Keller's arrest weaken the League?" has asked.
"No." sid he emphatically, "but it will strengthen the League and make it a more aggressive, more revolutionary organization." Michael Gillen, Vice-President of the Home Rule Club, said: "I do not admit that Father Kellar broke the law. Law is the expression of the will of a people, and judged by this standard there never was and is not now any law in Ireland."

will have to cease, or electe will be two kinds of music."

The Rev. J. P. O'Boyle of St. Mary's Hospital, Brooklyn, who himself was threatened with arrest in Ireland during the regime of Chief Secretary Forster, rubbed his hands joyously as he asserted that the arrest of father Keller was a grand thing. "Coercion has always been good for the Irish," he said, "in so far as it strengthened the spirit of resistance and rekindled that longing for national life and national independence and the readiness to fight."

THE MONSTER INVITATION TO PRESIDENT

The colossal invitation to President and Mrs.

Cleveland proposed by the Post-Disparch to be signed by the citizens of St. Louis and the surrounding section of the country is now an tioned, and that the correspondence was to the effect that it had not reached its destination.

Mr. Galennie said that he was in favor of doing all that could be done to get the President here. He believed the invitation proposed by the Post-Disparch would make so strong an appeal that Mr. Cleveland would uot only be pleased and complimented by it, but would find it impossible to refuse it.

The smaller invitation sent by the committee was all right, and was all that they could do or were at that time authorized to do, but he had no doubt the President received similar invitations every week from different parts of the country and there was nothing unusual in this, except that it came from a National organization of veteran soldiers. He was glad, therefore, to see the more pretentious invitation proposed and believed it to be the duty of the committee, now that they had been requested to take charge of it, to do so. Mr. Galennie spoke more fully of the immense advantage the President's visit ost. Louis would be to the city and to the West, and said that he believed in leaving no stone unturned to get up the proposed invitation. Personally he would work not only as a member of the committee but as a citizen and an officer of the Exchange to further the object.

The committee met on 'Change at 1 p. m., and took the matter under consideration. Existing as they did by the appointment of the General Executive Committee, of which Gen. D. P. Grier is president, and, having discharged the duty for which they were appointed, the gentlemen thought as a committee that they might be exceeding their authority if they assumed the entire control of so important a move as the one proposed. They therefore resolved to report to the General Committee, recommending the scheme and offering their services as members of a larger committee which should take the work in hand as they considered the task too great a one for three was that the idea of the invitation had emanated from that committee, and this magnificent indorsement of it should also properly fall under their control. The propriety of this appeared at once when it was suggested that the feature of the sutumnal festival being the reunion of the Grand Army the Fresident would feel the compliments amore unailoyed one if reaching him through that channel. The Mayor was gratified at the willingness of his colleagues to serve on the new committee whose appointment in the they would suggest as Mr. Galennie, President of the Merchants' Exchange, who would be afting representative of the commercial interests, and Gen. Noble, who would represent not only the veteran soldiers, but that large and influential fraternity, the lawyers, a profession of which the President THE COMMITTEE MEETS.

The water is rising gradually to-day and aweeping over a larger area than yesterday, though how much damage has been done is merely a matter of conjecture. Telegraphic communication with Mandan has been cutoff completely, so it is impossible to get news direct. The Northern Pacific bridge is not endangered as reported.

Detectives Badger and Moberly made a raid shortly after noon to-day on the eigar store, No. 2512 South Sixth street, and secured about of the Louisiana State Lottery, and about fifty tickets of the lottery, and about fifty tickets of the lottery. Chartes Reich, the clerk in the store, was arrested and taken to the Four Courts, where he was locked up. Herman Bruner's name is over the place, and the license for the store is also in his name. Besides, the letter-heads, envelopes, postal cards, etc., found in the place, have his name printed on them indicating that he runs the place. It is said that Reich has made confessions very damaging to Bruner. The fact that 200 copies of the last drawing were found in the place would indicate that the sales here are very large.

John McWilliams and Dan Slattery, two policy men, were also arrested to-day by order of Badger and Moberly, they having worked up cases against the men. 200 printed copies of the last drawing

The Athletic Club is composed of hard hitters, fine fielders, but the men are but fair baserunners.

The same can be said of St. Louis, Brooklyu and Louisville. The Baltimores have a fine array of first-class fielders and batteries second to none. They are a good base-running team, but are weak at the bat. If good luck should follow Barnie and his team through the season, Baltimore might possibly proudly wave the Association pennant of 1887. What the club lacks with the stick is made up by its excellent batteries. Harmony and discipline will count with the team. The Mets, who undoubtedly have a club equal to any, are hard to read. Why this team, with all the necessary requirements of batting, base-running, fielding and battery work, keep at the bottom of the list is a matter hard to solve.

The St. Louis Browns possess all the necessaries mentioned above, and they make use of them when occasion requires. The Louisvilles are no stronger, but a stroke of good luck, such as favored them last season, will make them troublesome opponents. To the Cleveland Club has been assigned the last place, where it may open the season and remain. In Manager Williams' make-up of the team he has collected some very strong material, but this is offset by the acquisition of several weak men. Yet Cleveland may make a good fight. Time aione will tell.

Editorial Thousand-Mile Tickets.

From Peck's Sun. If a fellow has a thousand-mile ticket on three or four roads he can be away from home half the time, and that is enough for any editor. It is pleasant to know that this vexed matter is settled. Some of us have been sweating blood for months, and many have practiced walking on the right of way getting accustomed to the ties. There would have been trouble if editors had been obliged to walk. An organization had already formed to have a bill passed compelling railroads to place their ties the same distance apart, and to put a rubber stair-pad on each tie. This would have cost the railroads s great deal of money, but the editors would have been relentless and insisted on the im peace the Sun is glad the vexed question is settled, as a fight between capital and labor with a big "L" is always a terrible thing.

METROPOLITAN PRESS. Vhat the Editors of the New York Journ Are Saying This Morning.

NEW YORK, March 21.—The WORLD Says

Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch.

Legislature, though not all that might be desired, has certain features deserving of unanimous support. The present law prohibits the employment in manufacturing establishments of children under 14 years. The bill very properly extends to mercantile houses the prohibition with regard to girls. It forbids the employment of children in cleaning machinery in motion, and insists on further safe-guards against accidents to the little laborers. It also increases the penalty for violation of the law, and what is still more important, provides an adequat force of inspectors to see that its provisions are complied with. It behooves the State to emember her children. They are her future

> The Tribune says: "One of the early fruits of Democratic incompetence in the House of Representatives is the stoppage of all jury trials in the United States Circuit Court in this city. This is a result of the failure of the deficiency bill, there being no money to pay jurymen. Business in this court is so far benind that Congress provided for the appointment of an additional judge, which only emphasizes the gross negligence that leaves the court without money to carry on its business out money to carry on its busines for nearly four months court without money to carry on its business for nearly four months."

The Sun says: "The report that Secretary Endicott's relations with the President are unimpaired will not disappoint many people. It would certainly have been surprising if the mugwumpist member of the Cabinet, which surely Mr. Endicott is, should engage in any disagreement with a chief whose mugwumpery has formed, perhaps, his most successful stock in trade. Taking all these things together Mr. Cleveland was to have collected a pretty harmonious Cabinet. The great admiration which Secretary Bayard is said to entertain for the President seems to have been sufficient to suppress much of the Democratic impuise which would naturally have asserted itself when a statesman of his long political training and experience in the vicisitudes of public life, attained office through the efforts of his party. Mr. Bayard and Mr. Cleveland are the best of friends, and they are also said to be thoroughly in accord upon all questions of administrative policy."

The Times says: "The question of small notes will possibly, after to day, cease to be one of immediate interest, as the Treasury officials announce that they are prepared to fill any reasonable demands and a supply is to arrive in this city during the day. Whether officials announce that they are prepared to fill any reasonable demands and a supply is to arrive in this city during the day. Whether the scarcity has been caused by an insufficient supply from Washington, or by a disposition on the part of the banks to hold those furnished, is obviously a question that can never be conclusively answered, and is not exceedingly important, though it will be discussed vigorously for a while. In the meantime, it may be remarked that embarrassment such as has been undoubtedly felt is one of the inevitable consequences of a Government currency, the form and volume of, which are not regulated by the actual needs of the business community, but in part by the condition of the community, but in part by the condition of the Freasury and in part by the discretion of Gov-

THE ENGLISH CAPITAL FAVORED WITH VERY DISAGREEABLE WINTER.

pecial Cablegram to the Post-Dispa merican Sojourners in Europe Unsucc fully Searching for the Gay Verdure of Spring-The Quakes in the Riviera-The Her Brutal Husband.

LONDON, March 21. - [Copyright 1887.] - Amer-ican travelers who left home last autumn to me to Europe in search of pleasant weather and to have a charming time generally have een in most instances very grievously disap pointed. So many circumstances have no or many a day united to make miserable the American sojourner in Europe. London has een favored with the most disagreeable winer known for years. Although this is the 21st of March, the week just closed has been one of dense fogs, snowstorms, frost and most pene trating east winds. There have not been half a lozen tolerable days during the entire month and the buds and grass of spring seem yet a long way off. In London snow is almost imnediately removed from the streets by thou sands of hungry men, who are glad to work all day for less than it takes to buy a good country lanes snow fles in picturesque heaps and clothes trees and bushes with a mantle white. All England to-day, instead of being decked out in the gay verdure of spring, yet lies dormant in the ley grasp of winter. Many The McMillan child labor bill now before the Americans went to winter resorts in the high ranges of Switzerland hoping to find steady, dry cold weather. colony assembled at Davos Platz, but it rained incessantly, and the reputation of Davos Platz for steady, dry cold weather has been utterly ruined forever. All the American colonists took flight and went DOWN TO THE RIVIERA and into Spain and Southern Italy. But ! snowed at Rome as it never snowed before, and froze in Spain, while in the Riviera the earthquake occurred. 'Now, although an earthquake is not in the line of bad weather it disturbs an atmosphere of peace and o erenity, and it is considered as being a much worse calamity than ordinary meteorological regularities. The Riviera was almost depopulated of tourists by the quake, and next winter we may hear of Morocco being chosen as the Old World's favorite winter resort. There is positively no chance of a cold day in Tangler, and as yet the quakes of Italy and Spain have never crossed the Mediterreanean to the other side. Even Paris has been made desolate by the weather.

The struggling celebrants of the mid-lenten festival on Thursday last blew their horns and sang their songs of decadent revelry under showers of snow-flakes, and in the face of biting winds. Berlin is at this moment covered with snow. From all the hibernating American contingent which now begins to come this way for the London season, is heard the same sad complaint. The fiction of "a delightful which the murders were committed is at the winter in Europe'' has been disturbed, if not wholly dissipated. England and all Europe offer unequaled attractions in the late spring, summer and autumn, but the Americans have in their own Southern Atlantic and Gulf coasts. and in Bermuda, Cuba, and all islands of the West Indies, hundreds of more attractive winter resorts than can be found on this side.

AN AMERICAN'S EXPERIENCE.

Dr. Clinton Wagner of New York is one o the Americans who has been trying to find a pleasant winter resort in Europe, and he writes as follows to a friend here, under the date of the 16th of March from Hyeres.

France: "We left Monte Carlo last week, not that w were tired of that lively place, but some infernai idiot in Vienna began to prodict more quakes. My wife was already somewhat un nerved by the previous quake, and so I thought it better to leave there, but for my part I would rather have Monte Carlo with a quake a day than this musty, dreary place. We are stopping here until after the equinox. In fact, it is raining so hard and so continuously that we can't get away. Our experiences in search of weather have ernment officials who are estimable and, possibly, learned and skillful gentlemen, but who are not intimately acquainted with business needs and cannot be."

been rather discouraging. We came here for a quiet time in the sunshine, and who are not intimately acquainted with business needs and cannot be." been rather discouraging. We came here to find dry, warm weather, we should poss! bly encounter wind and rain, the eternal fire gone out, the lake of brimstone frozen over and the devil would possibly tell us that the weather was exceptional.

THE LATEST LONDON SCANDAL.

A London actress, who is more or less known in America, has been having a bad time wit her husband recently. She is known on the stage as Mile. Miska, and has apartments in a flat near Oxford Circus, known as the Oxford ansions. It was in the same building tha Miss Sadie Martinot lived while under the fostering care of Mr. Dion Bouccicault. Mile. Misks is what might be called an intermitten actress-that is, she sometimes plays and metimes not, but nevertheless is always dressed, flourishing and serene. She is a blonde, and looks pretty burlesque paraphernalla of an liminated kind. She can skip about like a fairy, sings charmingly and is the idol of the gentlemen of the front row. What a hideous skeleton it was which she dragged out of her closet the other day and thrust into the face of her unsuspecting admirers! This beautiful burlesquer, it appears, was married to one Frederick Forrsel, last year, and now comes praying for a divorce from her husband who is described as of no occupation. The cause assigned is crueity. Of all the stories of personal maltreatment which have come to the surface in the somewhat chequered caree of women of the stage who marry, Mme. Forrsel's deserves to take the lead. Out of a ong tale of woe, which she poured into the ear of the Court last Thursday I have gathered

"She was driving along the Strand when he husband stopped the cab, made her get out, pushed her against the lamp post, crushed her finger and almost broke her back. On reaching their apartments he declared would kill her. They went to Stockholm to spend their honeymoon, and while there he assaulted her and beat her till she was insensible. Christmas Eve he assaulted her in York Place, London, and repeated his attack n the Hotel Continental, near by. She then left him, but he threatened to commit suicide and she took him back and gave him $7,000 of her money, which he spent, then asking for more. One evening on their return from the theater he best her so severely she had to call a surgeon, and on a subsequent occasion he tore one her ear-rings through the flesh from her ear, closing the entertainment by striking her over the head with a picturestriking her over the head with a pictureframe. He had no occupation, no meney and never earned a penny. She left him." At this point of the evidence the presiding Judge seemed to have heard as much as he could stand at one time, and he ordered the case to be adjourned. Mile, Miska goes on singing and dancing just as usual, but the world knows a little more new of her secret wees that it

Mr. Carleton is always a welcome visitor at the Capital since his first coming in May, 1877, when he read as admirable poem at the Arlington on Decoration Day. During the southern trip one of the family errands was to find the grave of Mr. Carleton's eldest brother, who died in Selma, Alabama, just after his release from the Receiprison at Cahawba. In this they were unsuccessful. Mr. Carleton says, feelingly, that he never quite knew how deep the wound was in his mother's heart for the loss of her eldest born till she reached the place where his prison-worn body gave up life. He and his wife drove out with her to Arlington vesterday to show her its 16,000 graves, each consecrated with the angulsi of some mother, wife of child, that she might feel the sense of companionship in her sorrow. Mr. Carleton derives from his mother much of his poetic in sight, and it is interesting to see them together for their mutual dependence and quiet understanding.

rule. When the Council is swamped it asks the Executive Board to help it out. When the Council is swamped it asks the Executive Board to help it out. We have been organizing as rapidly as prudeme justified and have now a very firm association. When the order was sent out by the EXECUTIVE BOARD of the Knights of Labor last spring prohibiting the formation of any more assemblies for forty days, our Connell enforced it rigidly and went twenty days better, adding a prohibition against the initiation of new members for that period in existing assemblies. In this way we prevented the initiation of a large number of men who would be in to-day and out to-morrow. Riffraff that would do the organization no good. There is no doubt but that the policy before that time of admitting all who applied, and the mistakes of the Southwest strike last spring greatly weakened the order. There was a strong reaction, which culminated in the troubles of the Richmond Convention. Lately I have been about among the assemblies a great deal and have found the reaction is over and a healthy growth has begun again. I think the order is on a firmer foundation now than it ever was before."

"In spite of the dissensions over the purchase of the magnificent headquarters in Philadelphia?" was suggested.

"Now, that is something the people who have been objecting to don't know anything about. The house cost $45,000 with nearly all the furniture it contained. It has thirty-one rooms, tapestry on the walls, velvet carpets, hand-made lace curtains and a large, roomy stable in the rear of the house that only needs a wood floor instead of flags to make it an excellent place for a printing office. This house is only two blocks from the building erected by the Bricklayers' Unions of Philadelphia, which occupies half the ground of our headquarters and cost the unions, $42,000.

Club of the Sixth Ward will hold a raily at the old Church Hall. Thirteenth and Benton streets. A new club in the Twelfth Ward was formed, with seventy-five members on Saturday night at the corner of Twentieth and Wright streets.

The new Council of the Royal Arcanum in North St. Louis will be combosed of physicians, insurance men, newspaper representatives, and business men generally. Dr. Wm. C. Green is now busily engaged in passing on the applications.

INTERNAL DISSENSIONS, office to-morrow evening. The first payment on shares will be made next Monday. The order for $2,000 to be paid to the beneficiaries of Fatrick Burke, deceased, has been followed by the officers of Branch No. 2, C. K. of I., and as soon as a guardian is appointed, the money will be paid over to him. A man named John Williams was arrested liast night for turning out the lights in Flanningen's Hall while the Salvationists were holding forth.

A Misunderstanding. A decision in the case of L. C. Bulkley vs. N. liant. On the vital questions in the case the plaintiff and the statement of the defendant, which essentially contradict each other. There was a misunderstanding, and the Court is not justified in that state of the evidence in deciding which understood it right. The law requires the judgment to be given for defendant.

Judge Valliant to-day rendered a decision the Missouri Pacific Railway. The contingent liability of a defendant in a suit pending against him for an alleged tort can not be reached by a garnishment process by a creditor of the plaintiff in such suit. There is no authority in law for holding such a defendant as garnishee to await the determination of such suit. The dessurrer is sustained.

A petition for a decree of incorporation was filed to day in Judge Lubke's court in behalf of the Laborers' Benevolent and Protective with the application a letter asking the commissioners to keep President Cleveland from the commissioners to keep President from the commissioners to k of the Laborers' Benevolent and Protective Union, No. 1, of St. Louis; James Duppy, President; Henry Murray, secretary; Edward Egan, Treasurer. The membership is to be composed of hod-carriers only. The objects are the elevation of the position and the maintenance of the rights of labor and the regulation of all business matters in which the laboring classes in its jurisdiction may be interested and involved.

The late Col. Scott of the War Records Office, who died on Saturday, often confounded many a story teller. It was he who had the documents at his elbow to furnish the exact truth in regard to every better in regard to them. To him went a host of people who wanted light on the war. A few weeks before his death Col. Scott said: "There are innumerable calls on me from officers on both sides for exact information about various movements and engagements. Most of them deal with personal affairs. Some fellow who led a scout wants to hunt up a report where his name is mentioned. A Majora General is not often any more sure of facts twenty-five years old than a private, and a dispute among brother officers sends both here for the record. It not infrequently happens that I unwittingly deal some of my best friends cruel blows. A Western Senator came here a year or so ago and got documents from methat made Admiral Porter ridiculously imaginative, where everybody supposed he was precisely historical, in regard to President Lincoln's visit to Richmond at the surrender, and an alleged interview-en route with buff Green. The greater part of the story turned out to be fiction. One day an old officer came rushing in, and, in an excited tone, exclaimed:

"Have you said I was not in the second battle of Bull Run?"

The parasites who fattened on Tweed in his day of power, some of whom have posed as eminent reformers since the death of the Boss, breathe more freely today over the positive sealing of Dewey's diply. He was the only living man who knew their dealings with the old chief of Big Six.

A safe fate seems to have overtaken all through you if you stuck to it."

curious, and hunted up the official reports made by this officer. I found that if he saw the Monitor and Merrimac in that battle his field glass was a most powerful one. He never saw the Monitor and Merrimac fight, but was at Falls Church the day of the battle, if his own reports are to be believed. There is a good deal of fiction in our war stories.

"The greatest number of inquiries about war history," said Col. Scott, "come from the South. The Johnnies fought well, and, in the absence of a good deal else to give them satisfaction, take great pleasure in their fighting. Nearly all the prominent Confederate officers have visited this old building, and hardly a day passes that we do not receive half a dozen letters from Southerners asking for information."

Several instances are known where blue-Several instances are known where blue-blooded Japs worked for families in this city, the most notable one of which has just come to light, and the discovery was made by a most novel accident. A certain family residing on Nob Hill and well known in society circles in this city and also in many of the cities of Europe secured the services of a handsome "Japanese young man," His duties consisted chiefly in washing windows and polishing things up generally. He was always diligent at his work and never forgot his position as a domestic. For two years he held the place, being known to the family only as "Sol." He went away of his own accord, having laid by about $400 of his scanty earnings. Nothing more was heard or thought of him until recently one of the daughters of the family attended a Court ball in Berlin, and, to her amazement, there was Sol, blooming in the regimentals of the German Empire. The young lady wrote home of the meeting at the time, and, to her amazement, there was sol, blooming in the regimentals of the German Empire. The young lady wrote home of the meeting at the time, and has just returned herself after an extended European tour. She described her meeting with the Jap with more attention to detail than she wrote it. "Why, mamma," she said, inrelating the incident, "my breath was taken away. The first thing I knew I was introduced to Lieut. Karo Yatami for a waltz. I looked at the gentleman for a moment as though I was crazy, I suppose, and then losing my presence of mind for the moment I put out my hand and exclaimed, "Why, Sol, is that you?" 'It is, Miss Mamie, he rejoined, 'and I'm glad to see you. The gentleman who introduced us flustered away, thinking that he had made two genial lunatics acquainted with each other. Sol and I did not dance that time. We simply talked. My utmost curiosity was aroused. He wrote me his proper two genial lunatics acquainted with each other. Sol and I did not dance that time. We simply talked. My utmost curiosity was aroused. He wrote me his proper name, and told me that he was a nephew of the Mikado, which I afterward learned to be true. He said that he was right but he of the Mikado, which I afterward learned to be true. He said that he was rich, but he thought he could best serve his country beginning just where he did and gradually becoming acquainted with matters on our side of the world." The lady declares that Sol spoke German well, and that since the proposed adoption by Japan of the German military system, quite a number of Japanese noblemen have been admitted by courtesy as officers of the German Army. This is the only bona fide story that has come to notice in San Francisco wherein the developments showed that the persons assuming so humble a position as that of general scullion was of noble blood beyond a doubt,

Nellie was buried by the artists, too, or rather, they paid half the expenses of the funeral, the other half being borne by the women of the calling into which she had fallen after leaving the life class. Nellie's fall was no fault of the Fine Arts, though, but of the world. The dark-haired, round-faced daughter of a decent family in the city, she offended against the one social law which is as the penal statutes of Draco, while yet a girl. She tried to recover her standing, and so took to service as a housemaid with some rich people in West Philadelphia. She was a good housemaid and a good girl, as girls and housemaids go; but somehow in the jostle of life one who had known her story stumbled long enough against the people whom she had served to duitfully warn them of whom they harbored.

The life class and its comparatively handsome stipend of $13.50 a week for a time reclaimed her, and during the three years of her contribution to the Fine Arts' study of the nude there was no more modest model in the school. At the end of that time she disappeared, and a student strolling New York's Broadway one day saw Nelhe step from a coupe and walk across the sidewalk into Lord & Taylor's, a veritable "Dame aux Camellias," both as to finery and the retention in a remarkable degree of a modest woman's bearing, Soon afterward she appeared in this city

Louis Engel in London World.

An item of interest I learn from Berlin papers is that Count Hochberg, whose appointment as intendent of the Imperial Theaters, in place of the late Baron Hillsen, I mentioned some time ago, has issued a decree concerning the pronunciation of the letter g, to which all the members of the imperial theaters, the comedy or opera-house, have to submit. They have to learn how different the g has to sound in king (Konig) from the g in gold; there is even the different degree of softness fixed, according to the letter being pronounced in the middle, at the end, after a consonant, or after a vowel. Since the Louis Engel in London World. nounced in the initiation at the end, later a consonant, or after a vowel. Since the Count has determined that the model is to be taken from the rules laid down by Tieck; long since dead and buried, the measure is logically, etymologically and violently attacked and resisted. MONEY.

New York, March 21, 11 a. m.—The stock market opened tame and fairly steady this morning, first prices showing only insignificant changes from Saturday's final figures, with gains and losses about equally divided. The market was duil and heavy in the early dealings and small fractions were lost throughout the entire list. During the latter part of the hour, a firmer tone prevailed and slight recoveries took place in some few stocks, but at 11 o'clock the market is duil and heavy.

Noon.—Money is easy at 364 per cent. Bar sliver, 90%. The stock market remained duil, but showed more firmness after 11 o'clock and Fort Worth and Denver advanced 1 per cent. The general market showed slight improvement only and became steady. There was no special feature of importance and at noon the market is very duil and steady at a shade under opening figures. OHICAGO, March 21, 1 p. m.—Wheat has been stagnant to-day and the transactions in it have been the lightest for weeks. There has not been enough action in the market to give it even a complexion. and so there is very little to say. Those supposed to be connected with the clique are doing nothing and until they make a move, we will perhaps have little business.

Corn has shown increased activity to-day and on the prospects of large receipts for the next two weeks the tendency has been to sell. The increase in the stock in sight has been a bearlsh factor. Much stuff changed hands at 39c for May, but buyers predominated and everything was well taken. We believe in lower prices and a slowly declining market. Provisions opened weak and lower. Trading was sluggish; Cudahy sold ribs and Ream bought. Prices slowly recovered and closed steady. Exports of pork and bacon last week show a larger increase over the corresponding week last year.

Oats-Futures were again nominal, not a trade being made and hardly an attempt at one. There was really nothing worthy of note in the market. Spöt grades were firm, but with little doing. No. 2, 284sc bid for U., 284sc for E., St. L. and M.; No. 3, 28c in M. and St. L.

A Disappointed Lover Sues His Sweetheart's Father for $10,000 Damages.

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 21.—On the Court of Common Pleas calendar for this week is a case, which, if old lawyers tell the facts, is without a parallel. It is known as "No. 1,980, Steina parallel. It is known as "No. 1,990, Steinman vs. Isaacs," and promises some very strange developments. The action is for $10,000, and the peculiar thing about it is that the plaintiff demands this amount from the defendant because the latter would not allow him to marry his daughter. This is said to be the first case of the kind ever heard of. The verdict will be looked for anxiously by wealthy parents who happen to be possessed of fair marriageable daughters. The case is further complicated by the fact that the plaintiff and the young lady, who at one time were engaged, have, since then, both picked out other life partners and are now married. The plaintiff in the case is S. B. Steinman, who is a banker at $33 Broadway. He is about 32 years old, short, stout, with black whiskers and mustache. He looks like a Spaniard and affects a foreign air. The defendant, Reuben isace, is the well-known importer of Japanese goods, whose place of business is at $53 Broadway. He lives at 215 East Sixtleth street, and has one of the most artistically furnished houses in the city. He has two grown daughters, who are handsome young ladles, and it was the elder of them who was at one time engaged to Mr. Steinman. It appears to have been a case of love at first sight with him, so he offered his hand and was accepted. According to his story, he believed that the engagement was fully sanctioned by the young lady's parents, and as a big party was given at the house shortly after, to which he was invited, the happy young man took it to be given in honor of the engagement. In his complaint Mr. Steinman alleged that he was most DEEPLY DEVOTED TO THE YOUNG LADY whom he designed to grace his home. He further states that he believed Miss Isaacs loved him deeply in return, and that he left nothing undone to make her engagement a happy one. He states that everything went well after the ante-nuptial feast until one day the father of the young lady rose in his might and politiely informed young Steinman that he never intended he should mar man vs. Isaacs," and promises some very strange developments. The action is for defendant from compromising the action by offering his daughter's hand to the plaintiff.

Mr. Steinman had hardly left the field when another suitor presented himself. He proposed in due course of time, was accepted and about a year ago Miss Isaacs became his wife. The friends of Mr. Steinman openly declared that he was thrown over because of the richer suitor who

"A Soap Bubble" is what its name indicates, as light and immaterial and empty of anything except nonsense as it can be. It is a pure farce, made up of jokes and absurdities, but it seemed to please the excellent audience at the People's last evening and went to pleuty of laughter and applause. T. J. Farron holds it up without Baker and is ably supported by plump little Gracie Emmet, Ed Cennelly, W. T. Dobson, J. T. McAlpin, H. Chatham, Misses Marie La Pelle, Virginia Ross and others. To the Rt. Hon. Randolph Churchill:

MY DEAR LORD CHURCHILL—You must recoilect a prelate from Canada who paid a visit to the Vice-Regal Lodge at Dublin in 1879, to thank your noble and venerable mother, the Duchess of Mariborough, for her kindness, liberality and charity toward the starving Irish. I had the honor then of a short acquaintance with your Lordship.
On that occasion I predicted you would become a great statesman. The twinkling of your brilliant eyes, however, portrayed you would be a little restive for a few years. I have assiduously watched your course since then, some times with regret (Belfast) at other times with joy, but always with great hope. The motives of your resigning a very honorable and important post in the Cabinet of England proved the honor, valor and self-respect for great mind. Your motive appears to be

The rule of injustice is a hard and hopeless task. Let the landlords receive fair rent, not oppressive, and let them restore to the poor tenants the overpayment of past years.
There are unmistakable signs in England of a growing volcano, which I trust English pradence will avert. The embers have been very unwisely fostered there. To fete Garibaidi and company is to canonize revolution in its worst form. Will the time ever come when insularity will begin to have some regard for the honest public opintion of the world, civilized as well as uncivilized, which is to-day horrified at the news of the inhuman spectacle of evictions whose only equivalents, according to England's greatest statesmen of past or modern times, are death warrants? How the English journals

Now, let us take another view of the Irish wrongs. The Irish element in the United States is becoming more and more powerful. Your English papers sometimes remark, when a statesman in this country speaks dis.

Your English papers sometimes remark, when a statesman in this country speaks disparagingly of England, that he is trying to catch the Irish vote.

By that they acknowledge that the Irish vote is a great factor in America, and this may be said of Australia and other English-speaking countries where the Irish congregate and multiply and prosper. Hence you must conclude that numbers will tell, and the combined Irish are a powerful ingredient in the government of this country and the power of their capanization is increasing every day. They hold already the balance of power in the Presidential and other elections. This is beyond dispute. You may judge of their temper from the tone which Americans take in

THE PRESENT FISHERY DISPUTE.

It is said that we in Canada live under the British flag by the toleration of the United States. When there was a question of enlisting volunteers, one of our chief statesmen said: "What use is this expense? The chief guard of five millions of people in the face of fifty will be good behavior." But good behavior means now, it appears, let the Americans do as they like. English forces are distant. Better are good neighbors near than blood relations at a distance.

Let us finish, my dear Lord, this, perhaps, too lorg letter, by imploring you again and again to help your country. England, out of the murky chaos in which she is and induce her to do justice at length to Ireland. Don't wait for the opportunity of the oppressed Irish-England difficulty. Ill treatment and calumnies will never reconcile former friends or foes. Union is strength and the condition of the Irish at home and abroad does not add to the strength or honor of England. We must not forget how the great Roman Emperor fell. England is not beyond the reach of eternal justice. nal justice.

A Young Englishman Attempts Suicide in the Y. M. C. A. Booms at Chicago. ,

CHICAGO, Ill., March 21 .- Maxwell Ernest Virgo, a young Englishman, 23 years of age, caused an exciting scene in the office of A. T. Hemingway, Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Associatioa, yesterday afternoon. Virgo has been known to the officers of the Association for three years past, frequently calling on them for moral assistance in suppressing a seemingly unconquerable desire, on his part to waste his abustance at games of that his desertion had been proved. Association for three years past, frequently calling on them for moral assistance in suppressing a seemingly unconquerable desire, on his part, to waste his substance at games of chance. Yesterday he appeared very much dejected, and toil Secretary Hemingway that things were going against him and he had determined to do away with himself. Hemingway invited Virgo into his private office to argue with him. Once inside Virgo braced himself up against the door and suddenly developed into a raving maniac. He drew from his overcoat pocket a bottle of muriatic acid, which he flourished wildly about his head, while violently vociferating a farewell to the world. Secretary Hemingway sprang to Virgo's side and attempted to wrest the drug from Virgo's grasp, but he found the madman possessed of superhuman strength. He grasped the secretary about the body and was forcing him through a three story window, when T. C. Helmick came to his rescue. The window was broken in the struggle. Virgo broke away, and was about to drink the acid when Mr. Hemingway and Mr. Helmick were both slightly burned. A great portion of it fell on Virgo's face, burning it in a frightful manner. He succeeded in swallowing some of the powerful stuff. His tongue and palate were badly burned and bilstered. Another desperate struggle canued botween the maniac, the secretaries and other attendants of the library, Virgo fighting like an enraged demon. This means much. "The flowers that bloom in the spring, tra-la-la," make one sort of a "spring opening"—they open themselves. Stores all advertise "Spring Openings" and you know what that means. With many it means that they want to sell off the remainder of their last spring's old stock; with THE WHEN, that had no stock last spring, it means an entire new spring stock.
